WORLD NEWS

FRANCE – Inheritance surprise

A Frenchman who was lucky enough to inherit a house from a relative found out he'd actually received more than just a new home. After moving into the property in Normandy, the man found a whopping £3 million in gold pieces, stored around the place! There were around 5,000 individual gold pieces, two gold bars weighing 12kg and 37 smaller gold ingots – all hidden under rugs, inside sofas and behind pieces of furniture.

AFRICA – Are elephants evolving?

An increasing number of African elephants are being born tuskless because poachers have consistently targeted and killed the elephants with the best tusks over the years. This has meant that only the elephants without tusks have survived to have children. In the Addo Elephant National Park in South Africa, 98% of female elephants have no ivory – and the few that do had much smaller tusks than the elephants which were born in the same park just 100 years ago.

EGYPT – Ancient city unearthed

A team of archaeologists in Egypt has uncovered what they believe to be a city that's at least 5,000 years old, featuring houses, tools, pottery and huge graves. Found right by the River Nile, the city is thought to have been for high-ranking officials and tomb builders, who would've been responsible for the royal graves that were found in the nearby sacred city of Abydos.

ACROSS

- 4. in charge of, in control of (adjective 11)
- 6. people who study human history and prehistory through the excavation of sites and the analysis of artefacts and other physical remains (plural noun 14)
- 8. people with important jobs in ancient Egypt, e.g. helping to run the country (plural noun 9)

DOWN

- 1. discovered (past participle 5)
- 2. measuring (the heaviness) (verb 3)
- 3. These animals are being born tuskless due to poachers. (plural noun 9)
- 5. people who hunt down elephants and remove their ivory tusks to sell them and make money (plural noun 8)
- 7. got, was presented with (past participle 8)
